

My second Lockdown ditty – to be read in tune with “We’ll meet again”

We’ll meet again
We know where but don’t know when
With the social distancing rules that apply,
My keyboards set to go
But my discipline’s been low
As we don’t have Dave and Doreen standing by.

But when we do get to meet
It will be a real treat
To see all our friends,
And we’ll do what we must
In each other we’ll trust,
Until this all ends.....

when

We’ll meet again
We know where but don’t know when
And we’ll all be very busy once again.

So when we get back to dance
We won’t take a chance
We’ll be wearing our masks
And we’ll come well prepared
There’s no kitchen we’ve heard
So we’ll all bring a flask.

So we will put on our shoes
Do the Balmoral Blues
And we’ll move around the floor just as before??
If we get it wrong
It won’t be very long
Before Ann and Kevin demonstrate once more

And we have Duncan and Sue
Who help us all to Remember our moves
And the skill of all four Guide us round the floor and
We steadily improve
So...
We’ll meet again
We know where but don’t know when
But we’ll all be happy dancing once again.

Margaret Hobson